

Founder

Friday, 03 June 2011

Last Updated Wednesday, 05 April 2017

Muttukrishna Sarvananthan has undertaken incisive, insightful, and foresightful policy research during the past eighteen years (1999-2017) of post-doctoral professional career. <http://orcid.org/0000-0001-6443-0358> Muttukrishna Sarvananthan has undertaken impactful peer reviewed research, public dissemination in peer reviewed international and regional journals, and public intellectual advocacy through the mass media (both print and electronic) in Sri Lanka. He foresaw the electoral defeat of the President Rajapaksa in June 2014 due to the lack of economic peace dividend in the conflict-affected provinces which was realised in January 2015. <http://link.springer.com/article/10.1007/s10708-015-9637-3> His survey results contested the causes of boat migration (to Australia from Sri Lanka) attributed by an Australian refugee advocate in 2013 and the Australian Government toughened its policy on boat migration in the same year. <http://www.epw.in/discussion/boat-migration-australia.html-0> He exposed and argued the case against military enterprises in Northern Sri Lanka in 2010 and the military expenditure in the Northern Provincial economy was cut-back to second place in 2012 as a proportion of the provincial economy for the first time in decades. <http://www.tandfonline.com/doi/abs/10.1080/09584935.2011.565313> He logically predicted, backed-up by empirical evidence, the demise of the LTTE in 2006 and it happened in 2009. <http://www.tandfonline.com/doi/abs/10.1080/01436590701507628#.U8nX9kDm5eY> He proposed a cap on the annual Government Budget deficit in 2001-2002 and the Fiscal (Management) Responsibility Act was enacted in 2003. <http://www.epw.in/commentary/sri-lanka-budget-2001-social-agenda-vs-military-development.html> He logically argued, backed-up by empirical evidence, the case for free trade between India and Sri Lanka in 1993 and the Governments of India and Sri Lanka inked a bilateral Free Trade Agreement (albeit partial) in 1998 that came into operation in 2000. <http://www.epw.in/special-articles/contraband-trade-and-unofficial-capital-transfers-between-sri-lanka-and-india.html> Muttukrishna Sarvananthan hails from Point Pedro and a Development Economist by profession and the Principal Researcher of the Point Pedro Institute of Development, Point Pedro, Northern Province, Sri Lanka, which he founded in 2004. Muttukrishna Sarvananthan is personally a Sri Lankan by birth, citizenship, and domicile; but professionally and in terms of work ethics a British, having been trained as a Development Economist there during the course of successfully completing three postgraduate degrees in England and Wales. He has worked as a Consultant to the Ministry of Finance and Planning, various private research institutions and international consultancy firms (e.g. Oxford Analytica), Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA), German International Cooperation (GIZ, formerly known as GTZ), International Labour Organisation (ILO), United Nations Development Programme (UNDP - both the country office and the Asia Pacific Regional Centre Colombo), and the World Bank (IBRD) in Sri Lanka undertaking field survey-based and desk-based applied empirical research studies on contemporary economic and social issues (civil conflict, gender, international trade, labour market, local economic development, macro-economy, peace, poverty, terrorism, etc) confronting Sri Lanka and beyond, field evaluations of agriculture, small enterprise, governance, peace-building, and post-disaster projects in Sri Lanka, post-conflict/disaster needs assessments in Sri Lanka, and reviews of fiscal and monetary transparency in Sri Lanka. He has been an intern at the World Bank headquarters in Washington, D.C. in 1996 as well. Muttukrishna Sarvananthan is periodically consulted by the diplomats at the Embassy or High Commission of Australia, France, Germany, India, Japan, Norway, United Kingdom, and the United States of America in Sri Lanka, and visiting government officials from the foregoing countries to Sri Lanka, about the economic, political, and social situation of the Eastern and Northern Provinces of Sri Lanka. He is also regularly interviewed by the Tamil service (Thamil Ozai) of the British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC) in London (which is now based in New Delhi). Further, he has been an academic tutor, supervisor, and guest lecturer on conflict resolution and security studies for the University of Bradford (2005/6) in Sri Lanka and the United Nations University for Peace (2005-2008) in Sri Lanka. Furthermore, Muttukrishna Sarvananthan has been an external examiner of Ph.D. theses on Entrepreneurship in the Northern Province of Sri Lanka submitted to the University of New South Wales in Canberra in 2015 and on the Shadow Economy in Sri Lanka submitted to the Jawaharlal Nehru University in New Delhi in 2006. Besides, he was also a member of the international editorial board of the Contemporary South Asia journal published by Routledge since 2004 until December 31, 2016. Moreover, he has been a peer reviewer of number of articles submitted to Contemporary South Asia (Routledge), Disasters (Routledge), Development in Practice (Routledge), Third World Quarterly (Routledge), and World Development (Elsevier) journals during 2003-2016. Muttukrishna Sarvananthan was an Endeavour Research Fellow at the Global Terrorism Research Centre of the Monash University in Melbourne from September 2011 to February 2012 and a Fulbright Visiting Research Scholar at the Elliott School of International Affairs, George Washington University in Washington, D.C. from October 2008 to July 2009. He was a participant in the International Visitor Leadership Program on 'Tamil Diaspora & Post Conflict Reconciliation', organized by the United States Department of State from August 06th to 24th 2012 in the United States of America. He has authored books titled The Economy of the Conflict Region: from economic embargo to economic repression, People's Verdict on Tsunami Recovery in Sri Lanka, Children of War: Aspirations and Opportunities (received the first prize under the research award scheme of the Sri Lanka Economic Association in 2008), An Assessment of Contraband Trade and Capital between India and Sri Lanka, Impact of Civil Conflict on Women in Traditional Tamil Society (co-author), and Economic Reforms in Sri Lanka: post-1977 period (editor). Further, he has published articles on Indo-Sri Lanka trade, poverty and income inequality, civil war and the economy, and economic policies and strategies in Conflict Trends (Durban), Contemporary South Asia (Routledge), Development in Practice (Routledge), Economic and Political Weekly (Mumbai), Faultlines: Writings on Conflict and Resolution (New Delhi), GeoJournal (Springer), Indian Journal of Regional Science (Kolkata), Journal of Contemporary Asia (Routledge), South Asia Economic Journal (Sage), South Asian Journal of Human Resources Management (Sage), South Asian Survey (Sage), Sri Lanka Economic Journal (Colombo), Sri Lanka Journal of Social Sciences (Colombo), and Third World Quarterly (Routledge).

<http://scholar.google.com/citations?hl=en&user=CYGaCwQAAAAJ> His research note titled "Recovering from the Tsunami: People's Experiences in Sri Lanka" in Contemporary South Asia, Vol.16 No.3, September 2008 was amongst the top twenty articles downloaded from the publisher's own portal during 2008. Muttukrishna Sarvananthan earned a Doctorate in Development Economics at the Centre for Development Studies, University of Wales, Swansea in 1999, Master of Science in Development Planning and Administration at the Department of Social Policy and Social Planning, University of Bristol in 1991, Master of Science (Economics) in Economic Development at the Department of Economics, University of Salford in 1989, and Bachelor of Arts (Honours) in Economics at the Kirori Mal College, University of Delhi in 1986. Besides, he has successfully completed teaching skills for graduate tutors course at the University of Wales, Swansea in 1998. Contact details sarvi@pointpedro.org This e-mail address is being protected from spam bots, you need JavaScript enabled to view it web address <http://pointpedro.org>